Two-Team, Six-Point Teaser Play of the Week

4-Star Baltimore +9, Philadelphia 4

Supporting Teaser-Specific Trends: The Ravens are 18-0 ATSp6 off a game as a favorite on the road vs a team that had more regular season wins the previous season. The Eagles are 18-0 ATSp6 on grass off a loss in which they did not have a 50-plus yard rusher.

Three-Team, Ten-Point Teaser Play of the Week

4-Star Green Bay +6, Indianapolis +13, Jacksonville +12.5

Supporting Teaser-Specific Trends: The Packers are 24-0 ATSp10 as a favorite and vs a non-divisional opponent after a game in which their third downs made increased by at least three over their previous game. The Colts are 24-0 ATSp10 vs a divisional opponent after a win in which they came back from a deficit. The Jaguars are 24-0 ATSp10 on grass off a game as a dog after a game in which their turnovers committed decreased by at least two over their previous game.

Tracking The 2016 Season...

While the powerful SDQL is great for tracking complex and very specific handicapping information, it is also just as useful for tracking the basics. In this spot all season long we will track basic handicapping situations over the full season, as well as how they did in 2015.

SITUATION	2016 ATS RECORD	2015 ATS RECORD
HOME	37-39-1	117-132-7
HOME DOG	13-9-1	40-39-3
HOME FAVORITE	23-27	74-85-4
OFF A WIN	29-31	122-108-10
OFF A COVER	30-29	119-106-8
PASSES PER GAME	36.0 PASSES	35.8 PASSES
RUSHES PER GAME	25.8 RUSHES	26.3 RUSHES
AVERAGE TOTAL SCORE	45.4 PPG.	45.6 PPG.

MTi's Newsletter Side Play

4.5-Star Indianapolis +3 over HOUSTON - The Colts do not have a good defense, but the Texans have not been able to capitalize on similar opponents. Houston is 0-10 ATS when they are off a game as a road dog and facing a team that has allowed at least 374 yards of offense per game season-to-date. The SDQL text is:

team = Texans and p:AD and oA(o:TY)>=374 and date >= 20041100

The Texans were the favorite in eight of the ten games but are only 1-9 straight up and their lone victory came in overtime as a fifteen points favorite over Jacksonville. Since 2013, they have been in this spot four times and they have been outscored 45-0 in the first quarter of these games.

In addition, the Texans have never covered in the history of their franchise at home off a loss as a road dog when they are on the road next week as well, going 0-8 SU and 0-8 ATS. The SDQL text is:

team = Texans and H and -3<=line<=3 and p:LAD and n:A

Houston has lost these eight home games by an average of more than a TD.

More recently, the Texans are 0-7 ATS at home off a road game in which they allowed at least five third down conversions. The SDQL text here is:

team = Texans and p:A and H and po:3DM >= 5 and season >= 2013

The Texans are 0-3 against the Colts in this spot, with the most recent a 27-20 home loss last season laying 4.5.

Houston is averaging 4.66 yards per offensive play this season and this is 31st in the league, ahead of only the 49ers. The Colts match-up well against poor offenses, going 8-0 ATS as a road dog vs a team that has averaged less than five yards per play when they are off a win as a home favorite. The SDQL text is:

team = Colts and p:WHF and AD and oS(RY+PY) / oS(plays) <5 and season>=1999

Despite being a road dog in every game, the Colts won every game outright.

Indeed the strength of the Texans is their defense, as they have forced an average of six punts per game in 2016, third in the league behind the Ravens and Seahawks. The Colts, however, have matched up famously vs these opponents, going 8-0 ATS on grass vs a team that has forced at least six punts per game season to date. The SDQL is:

team = Colts and surface = grass and oA(o:punts)>=6 and season >= 2002

The most impressive feature of this performance indicator is that the Colts have won these eight games by an average of 32.1 points to 13.4 points and have covered by an average of more than two touchdowns. We are taking Andrew Luck and the points over Brock Osweiler.

MTi's FORECAST: Indianapolis 24 HOUSTON 13

MTi's Newsletter Totals Play

4-Star LA Rams at DETROIT UNDER 43.5 - Stafford was 19-of-25 in last week's 24-23 win over the previously unbeaten Eagles. This, surprisingly, points to the UNDER. The Lions are 0-7 OU on turf off a home game in which they had fewer than ten incompletions. The SDQL text is:

team = Lions and p:H and surface = artificial and p:INC<10 and date >= 20031109

The average final score in these games has been 17.3 to 13.6.

Also, Detroit is 0-10 OU on turf when the line is within three points of pick vs a non-divisional opponent and they are off a game as a dog in which they were outgained. The SDQL here is:

team = Lions and p:D and -3<=line<=3 and surface = artificial and NDIV and p:TY< po:TY and date >= 20051100

The Lions were 0-3 OU in this spot last season, scoring 12, 18 and 14 points respectively.

The Rams trend number 13 from the 2016 KillerSports.com NFL handicapping Bible is active for the second time this season. It reads, "STL013: The Rams are 0-22 OU on the road when they are off a game in which they rushed for a TD and held their opponent to ten or fewer rushing first downs." It cashed in week four this season when the Rams beat the Cardinals 17-13, thus moving it to 0-23 OU. The SDQL text is:

team=Rams and A and p:RTD>0 and po:RFD<=10 and date>=20071118

We are confident that the linesmakers do not have this one factored into the line.

SportsBook Breakers' NFL Selections / Week 6

SBB's Newsletter Side

4-STAR San Francisco over BUFFALO – After the first week of the season, San Francisco has been saddled with a brutally hard slate and they been unable to win. Buffalo on the other hand is playing well, but if Rex Ryan's teams are known for anything, it is for being unable to maintain consistency and for playing down to opponents. This is the absolute maximum the line would get to between these teams and as such it is the right time to grab the points.

Buffalo is 3-2 on the season, good but not quite the level of dominance in a team you would want to see to lay these kind of points. Teams which are more than TD favorites which have won less than 62.5% of their games are 254-350-11 ATS (line<=7 and WP<62.5).

San Francisco meanwhile has fallen to just 1-4 on the year. Teams with no more than one win and at least three losses who are playing a team with at least three wins are 332-241-14 ATS (wins<=1 and losses>=3 and o:wins>=3).

Their last loss came on short rest at the hands of the Cardinals. However, despite falling 33-21, San Francisco was able to stay committed to the run, with 36 ground attempts for 151 yards. Teams which rushed at least 30 times in a game they lost by more than 10 points last game are 114-90-3 ATS (p:rushes >= 30 and p:margin < -10).

Buffalo meanwhile pulled off a strong win over Los Angeles last week. They were a pick em in that game, covering by 11 points. The Bills are 0-10 ats since Jan 02, 2005 as a favorite of more than three points after a win where they covered by at least seven points (team=Bills and line<-3 and p:ats margin>=7 and p:W and date>=20050102).

Buffalo also had a strong ground game in the win, with 193 yards on the ground. The Bills are 0-8 ats since Jan 02, 2005 vs a non-divisional opponent off a win after they rushed for at least 50 yards more than their average (team = Bills and p:W and NDIV and tA(p:RY) + 50 <= p:RY and date >= 20050102).

SPORTSBOOK BREAKERS PREDICTION: San Francisco by 1

SportsBook Breakers' Side Play

4-STAR Cleveland over TENNESSEE - The Titans are one of the worst teams in the league talent and performance wise. And they nearly a negative home field advantage the past couple of years. So to lay at touchdown with a team like this is crazy. Look for the Browns to keep fighting hard in search of their first win here.

Tennessee does have a pair of road wins but it just 2-3 on the season laying these points. Team as at least 6.5 point favorites past game three of the season when they've won less than 46% of games on the year are 111-164-8 ATS (line<=-6.5 and WP>46 and week>3).

Cleveland meanwhile is 0-5 on the season. Winless teams with at least 4 losses are 147-106-7 (wins=0 and losses>=4).

And their streak of being a huge dog continues. This is the fourth straight game they are at least TD underdogs. Teams which are dogs of more than six points after being dogs of at least seven points last game since 2006 are 148-114-6 ATS (line>=6.5 and p:line>= 7 and season>=2006).

Tennessee did play their best game of the season last week, winning in Miami 30-17. The Titans are 0-10-1 ats since Oct 31, 2010 after scoring at least 30 points in a win (team=Titans and p:points>=30 and p:W and date>=20101031).

They held Miami to a mere eight first downs in the game. The Titans are 0-9 ats since Dec 14, 2008 as a favorite after they allowed no more than 15 first downs last game (team=Titans and F and po:first downs<=15 and date>=20081214).

They picked up 23 first downs in the game, turning them into 30 points. However, they have not been nearly as efficient scoring this year. They are averaging 19.8 first downs per game but just 18.4 points per game. The Browns are 12-0 ATS on the road on grass off a game as a dog when facing a team that is averaging more first downs than offensive points season-to-date (team = Browns and A and surface = grass and p:D and oS(7*RTD+7*PTD+3*FG) < oS(FD) and date >= 20011100)..

SportsBook Breakers' Spotlight System

SportsBook Breakers has spent the past season focused on league systems and has found over 100 that are winners at well over the 55% required rate for the long-term success. Each week, SBB will highlight an active league system here. If you are looking for more SDQL-based systems from SBB each week, check out their offerings on the Killersports.com Trends Mart.

PLAY AGAINST: Teams when it is at least week 6 and they lost their first game of the season last game

41-61-3 ATS (-1.25, 40.2%)

SDQL TEXT: losses=1 and p:L and week>=6

NFL teams and players are not necessarily the most realistic set of people around. Now we know that virtually every team is going to lose games during the season. Yet when a team gets on a nice role to start the season, they quickly get under the impression that they are invincible. So when the first loss of the season finally comes, it is a shock to their system.

Teams when it is at least week 6 and they lost their first game of the season last game are 41-61-3 ATS.

What we are capturing here is the after affect when a team loses their first game. There is an adjustment period to recalibrating after suffering the first loss following a nice winning streak and teams generally take an extra week to regroup and refocus now that they are not playing for the perfect season.

Because these are highly successful teams, they are favored by an average of -4.4 points in these games despite the previous loss. And despite that line they win outright just 52.9% of the time.

This week, Denver is a team coming off their first loss to Atlanta last week to fall to 4-1 on the season. Now the Broncos have to try to regroup on short rest as they travel to San Diego on a short week to face the Broncos. Also watch for this system once more this season when Minnesota eventually loses their first game (assuming they don't go 16-0).

Cajun Sports College Football System

System Analysis

Each week we review our System of the Week from the previous week and this season has been a blast because we haven't lost a game posting a record of 4-0 ATS going into last week. Well we are still undefeated but we didn't win either we pushed on our play on the USC Trojans minus the four points over the Colorado Buffalos.

Our system also qualified the Penn State Nittany Lions minus the one and half points versus Maryland. By the time that game went off the Maryland Terrapins were three and half point favorites. The line in that game did not matter as the Nittany Lions rolled to a 38 to 14 victory on Saturday afternoon. For purposes of record keeping we did not use Penn State as our official play USC was given out as the System Play of the Week last week so the current record for our System of the Week is 4-0-1 ATS.

It is either a slow week in college sports or something out of the ordinary must have happened the previous week for the talk in the office to be about the Kansas Jayhawks football team. In fact I do not remember a time that the Jayhawks football team was the major topic of conversation around our office.

Let me clarify something the talk around the office was more about who they played and how surprising it was to see the TCU Horned Frogs struggle against the Jayhawks. Last week the Horned Frogs took their show on the road to Lawrence Kansas to take on the hometown Jayhawks. The oddsmakers had installed the Frogs as -29.5-point road favorites in that game and TCU came away with a 24 to 23 victory.

It shouldn't come as a surprise because a closer look we see the Horned Frogs have struggled against the Jayhawks the last three seasons. Last season the Jayhawks went on the road to TCU as 46-point road underdogs and gave the Frogs all they could stand eventually losing 23 to 17. Following that loss the Jayhawks hosted the West Virginia Mountaineers installed as 30-point home underdogs and proceeded to lose 49 to 0.

The same scenario played itself out in 2014 with the Jayhawks giving the Frogs a difficult time as 28-point underdogs losing 34 to 30 and then in their next game they were blown out on the road at Oklahoma as the Sooners crushed them 44 to 7.

This week's college football system plays against teams that came up just short as a double-digit home underdog and are now on the road as underdog or small favorites. Teams in this situation have had very little left after suffering such a heartbreaking loss at home.

This week's system reads From Game 4 on, play AGAINST a road team (not a favorite of 4+ points) with less than thirteen days rest off a SU loss of less than 3 points as a home underdog of more than 10 points.

With all the system parameters met this week's Cajun Sports Wire NCAA Football System of the Week calls for a play AGAINST the Kansas Jayhawks as they travel to Waco Texas to take on the Baylor Bears. The Baylor Bears have been installed as 34-point home favorites and we will lay the chalk here as they roll over the Jayhawks on Saturday. Have a great weekend and as always good luck.

Pick Sixty Sports: Tips and Totals

Colin Kaepernick is making his much anticipated debut this weekend for a San Francisco 49ers team that is looking to put the brakes on a four-game losing streak. The Niners shutout the Rams in Week 1 and it didn't really impress anyone that stayed up late enough to watch it. Fast forward to Week 5, and San Francisco's second showcase game of the season reinforced the theory that this is the worst the NFC West has to offer.

Road dogs on a losing streak of four or more consecutive games have averaged 41.5 total points in database history (408 games). The non-conference variety, getting just more than a touchdown are 5-9-1 O/U with any total over 40.

SDQL: streak < -3 and not C and AD and 10 > line >= 7 and total > 40

The Niners are 1-9 SU and 2-8 ATS on the road since the start of 2015, getting lit up for an average 33.5 points per game. The net result was 8 of 10 overs and in Chip Kelly's first expedition, Week's 2 and 3, the team allowed 46 and 37 points to Carolina and Seattle. It's no surprise this total opened at 45 but with the following code you can see an interesting trend for bad road teams with a penchant for high scoring games (21-36-1 O/U)

SDQL: S(O@team and site, N=10) > 5 and A and WP < 40 and not C and on:DIV

The tightener is that our non-conference opponent has a more important divisional game on-deck. Buffalo knows just how valuable these home wins are in the big picture but the Miami Dolphins are up next and Rex Ryan's penultimate prize before Lombardi is the AFC East title. Against a weaker team like San Fran, the Bills can risk opening here with a more conservative gameplan.

Database history also shows that when the home team was coming off a win, the record in this profile goes to 7-20-1 O/U. All seven games with a posted total between 41-45 stayed under by an average of 11 points.

Buffalo is hot right now and their road win over the Los Angeles Rams really surprised me. The Bills have now won three-straight SU/ATS and only allowed 20-plus points in one of five games all year. That was in their Week 2, Thursday night loss to the Jets where the D was off a game in which it spent more than 33 minutes on the field. Buffalo is a low possession team (26:54 average) but here's proof of how the shorter rest week can affect the defense. Sub-28-minute averages early in the week are 21-10-1 O/U.

SDQL: tA(TOP/60)<28 and H and p:A and (day=Thursday or day=Saturday) or (day=Sunday) and day,1 Home faves on a tear (2-3 wins) that have held four of their past five opponents to less than 20 points are a 59-percent ATS fade and a 63-percent play to stay under. The overall mark is 31-53 O/U with a more recent record of 3 overs and 13 unders. The average total in these games was four points lower than this one opened at but it is on the way down.

SDQL: tS(o:points<20, N=5) = 4 and HF and 1 < streak < 4 and NB and season > 2007 and REG

Non-divisional games have an even stronger hit rate of 13 overs and 28 unders (68-percent UNDER). To pare down the above SDQL, simply add 'and NDIV' to the query.

Each of these teams has a 3-2 O/U record and I feel that that, among other things has helped inflate this total. To test how home favorites have fared when both clubs were known "Over" teams, this code is effective and it shows a 58-percent lean to the under with more than 300 plays to study.

SDQL: tS(O) > tS(U) and HF and oS(O) > oS(U) and 43 < total <= 49 and REG

With stronger defensive teams like the Bills, who have kept their opponents in check four of their past five, the database shows 13 overs and 26 unders. Favorites of more than -7 in this sub-system went 1-10 O/U and for a perfect angle, focus on totals of 43 to 56 (no points spread parameter).

SDQL: tS(O) > tS(U) and HF and oS(O) > oS(U) and REG and tS(o:points<20, N=5) = 4 and 56 > total > 43

For all we know, Kelly has secretly been grooming his kid Kaepernick for a breakout performance and the Bills will look more like a deer caught in the headlights. But this is an early start for San Fran and the long-range forecast for Buffalo says cool and breezy with a chance of showers. The Niners have averaged 17 points their past eight trips outside the Pacific time zone and while that may be enough to cover with this generous line, I'm doubtful these teams combine for more than 41 points.

Pick No. 1: Take the Niners and Bills UNDER

The Power of Two-Team Teasers

One of the fantastic and unique features of www.killersports.com is the ability to run teaser trends. Each week we'll show off five such two-team teaser trends in this space utilizing this important and often overlooked area of handicapping. Any trend with a "p6" designation is for a play on/under 6-pt teaser and a trend including "m6" is for a play against/over 6-pt teaser.
