PICK SIXTY SPORTS WEEKLY TIP:

The Oakland Raiders are a Jekyll and Hyde team the past three weeks with home dog wins over the Chiefs and Fortyniners sandwiching a 52-0 blowout loss at St. Louis in Week 13. Kansas City may not hang a 50-burger on the Silver and Black this weekend but the Chiefs have now lost three in a row since beating Seattle and they are looking for some payback. Oakland ranks dead last in road scoring with 11.4 points per game (PPG) and this is a perfect opportunity for the home side to get back on track but Andy Reid is only 2-12 ATS as a divisional home fave off a loss. With Jamaal Charles nursing a sore wheel the Chiefs seem better suited to a teaser play rather than a flat bet on the side but we do like this game to stay under 41.5 points.

SDQL Text: week >= 15 and REG and o:WP < 26 and season >= 2009 and H and total < 50

This is from a profile we call 'Playing for the Draft' and the general rule is to bet the under when you have a really bad team playing on the road late in the season. Since 2009 this angle is 6-16 O/U (73-percent) and as long as our home team has at least five wins on the season the "Under" record improve to 80-percent (3-12 O/U). Oakland is 0-15 SU/ATS their last 15 underdog games that followed a cover by more than seven points and they've averaged just 12.2 points. Kansas City is 2-5 O/U at home against .500 (or worse) teams the past two years and the two overs were a 23-17 win over the Browns on a low total and a wild 41-38 divisional bout with the Chargers (SDQL: team = Chiefs and season >= 2013 and o:WP <= 50 and H). We'll look for more life out of the Chiefs than they showed in Week 12 at the Black Hole as this games stays under the number.

Pick: Take the Raiders and Chiefs UNDER

The Pick Sixty power rating plays improved to 20-6 ATS on the season – Visit www.picksixtysports.com for more picks all weekend!

Note: It is not SportsBook Breakers recommendation to make plays based solely on one trend (our selections at killercappers.com don't). Weigh these trends along with other factors accordingly.
